

Hiawatha Horse Park

Thursday Oct 6, 2011

MOST PROBABLE WINNER

Race 3 #2 Rainbow Gold

LONGSHOT SPECIAL

Race 4 #5 Frequent Flyer

Race 6 Selections 1-3-6-5

1 I KNOW THE WAY hasn't looked nearly as good the last couple after starting out her career on a real roll. She's also been away for nearly a month but if right can go with these. 3 FLIPCUP was absolutely torched to the ¼ in her debut at Mohawk last week and eventually faded to be a well-beaten 9th. Before that she raced well against condition claimers. 6 MIAPRETTY rarely puts in a bad effort and with a 6 for 8 top 3 profile she looks like a real contender against these. I could have used her on top just as easily as the one above.

Race 1 Selections 3-2-4-6

3 PINK KNEES finally draws a decent post position after at least 6 less than stellar draws in a row. She also gets a trainer change for tonight and should be in the hunt late. 2 CURRENT RECORD had 2 preps in Ohio before shipping off to Indiana for her first 2 races. She shows good speed as well as offering a trainer change angle to consider. 4 EASY CAMOTION really failed to fire in her last for whatever reason but before that she was on a bit of a roll with back-to-back seconds. She should rebound in here.

Race 7 Selections 8-6-3-1

8 EASTER BONNET classy mare is rapidly closing in on $200,000 and judging by the way she's dominated the last couple she won't be long getting there. Much the best! 6 WINWOOD SASHA with a 1 for 32 win profile she's probably not a big threat for win in here. Her 2 previous races here were nice seconds to my top choice tonight. 3 KAA DEE QUIZ didn't fire in his last but they may or may not have been due to the track conditions that night. His 4 previous miles here should be good enough for a share.

Race 2 Selections 6-4-2-3

6 BANANA BABY is undefeated in her short career thus far; in fact she's never even come close to being beat with both wins by open lengths. She's clearly the one to beat! 4 DS SURPRISE made a couple of breaks off the gate and at the ¼ pole last week and still came back on to be 2nd to my top selection. An error free trip may make it closer. 2 WESTERN HYLIGHT has looked like a different mare since being given an 8 month break this year for whatever reason. Her speed should increase in the move to this oval.

Race 8 Selections 7-5-9-4

7 SISTER KAREN picks up the medication lasix for tonight's event after a pair of lack luster efforts over in Michigan. She does show being competitive in pref classes. 5 MS LUCK can leave the gate with the best of them and when she's at her best she can go a long way on the engine. Her 20 wins the last 2 years also stands out here. 9 PUTNAM MACKENZIE classy mare is closing in on a ¼ million but the 9 hole draw won't help her cause. She rarely shows leaving the gate so she will definitely need help.

Race 3 Selections 2-7-1-6

2 RAINBOW GOLD looks like the closest thing to a sure bet on tonight's card. His last 3 races are wins by a combined 22 lengths. He may win the length of the stretch! 7 CLASSY PENNY is as consistent as any of these and with 9 out of her 11 starts top 3 efforts she looks like a logical choice for 2nd. She shows some versatility as well. 1 S F MOLLIE draws her best post in well over a month now and often that can make all the difference with lower condition level trotters. Their all racing for 2nd money though

Race 9 Selections 1a-2-4-3

1a LATE BLOOMER missed the opening leg of this series but managed to get in the consolation final after a nice 2nd last week. You also get a 2 for 1 option on the entry. 2 TWINKY should be the tightest of any of these since she has been raced since the second leg of the series concluded. Her 33 top 3's are also top's amongst these. 4 BO KNOWS BEST probably show's the most consistency of any of these bottom claimer mares. She may be forced to race from behind and may need some speed to chase.

Race 4 Selections 5-8-7-4

5 FREQUENT FLYER was the victim of soft fractions last week and never really had a chance from the get go. The miles from early Sept are as good as any of these show. 8 PJ KEYED ALIKE TOO rarely is an easy drive and because of that she often has to pace further than most of the others. She's a top 3 threat again in this condition group 7 PEEKABOO PAM will probably play the roll of race favorite off that latest effort. She's a low percentage winner so I'm predicting minor spoils only, that may be a mistake.

Race 10 Selections 3-2-1-7

3 ONE MORE HUG has looked unbeatable since returning from the Eastern U.S. a month ago. For some reason her regular pilot has went to the #7 so I may consider the #2. 2 R ES MISS MCARDLE opted to skip the opening leg of this series but still managed to make the lucrative final after a dominating win here last week. She may just be the best. 1 YOU RAISE ME UP is also part of an entry tonight from a stable that's put up big numbers here in the past. Others in here also have a chance and using several may be the play

Race 5 Selections 1-3-6-8

1 JAYPORTLOOKATME changed hands from her long time connections recently and has since requalified very nicely. A repeat of her prep race should be enough in here. 3 ORANGUTANG is the other one in here that's coming into tonight's race off a trainer change. His prep was a winning one and he should drop significant time at this track 6 THE SUPER AUSSIE was driven very aggressively last time out and paid for it in the end. Even though he was 7th in that race he was only beaten 3 lengths. A long shot play.

Race 11 Selections

N/A